

A Single Account to Synch all Devices

Written by Marco Attard
08. April 2011

NetQin announces its personalised cloud-based platform, NQ Space-- allowing users to synch their personal data across multiple devices using a single online account.

The cloud-based system not only stores data online, but also scans for viruses and gives users security ratings to their devices, giving guidelines on how to improve them.

If one loses one of their devices, NQ Space also allows them to locate and control it remotely-- in order to either wipe it, sound off an alarm or lock it.

Go NetQin